

ALL BOTCHED UP.

Congressman Patterson Says
Tariff Bill is Bungled,

But it is Pretty Strong After All.

ONETHING SUITS HIM.

We Will Have Money to Throw at the Birds.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—[Special].—In spite of losses and crosses, laps and slams, investigations of sugar bribery and investigations of the causes of depression in business and labor, the senate does make progress with the tariff bill, and of late tolerably rapid progress. The pressure from outside has become almost too strong to be resisted except by a few senators who are now the minority of the minority, but they hold out tenaciously, and strange threats are heard. The ordinary strain of night sessions would be nothing new, but Messrs. Jones, Vest and Harris give hints of more stringent measures. Anxious members of the house say that the courtesy of the senate can only continue so long as it is not flagrantly abused, and to the suggestion that the bill might even yet be talked to death in the senate a house leader responded: "They will not dare so dangerous a proceeding. Let the elections go as they may, 34 of the present Democratic senators will be in the senate till late in the next presidential term, and some more are sure to leave Democratic successors. So if the rule is established that the minority can prevent legislation they will work that rule in the next congress and the next and so on. It won't do."

A Hopeful View.
Colonel Josiah Patterson, who was for awhile among the most anxious in the house, says he has got over it and is willing to wait till the Republican senators get ready to quit of their accord. He adds: "The Democrats are standing up there to let the Republicans break back over their heads, and the bill is all botched and splintered up anyhow, but after all it is a pretty strong bill. If you will take the schedule as they stand, you will find that, even if the other fellows get all the concessions they claim from this on, there will be a reduction of more than 15 per cent from the McKinley bill, and that's a big gain, considering the troubles we have had. Another thing suits me about the way things are going—the bill will get into operation just in time to catch the revival of business, all the coal miners will be at work about the time our friends out in the mining regions begin their campaign, and the old women who sell butter and eggs, chickens and the like will have money to throw at the birds by the time election day comes."

This is a common method of consolation among the Democrats, and occasionally one finds a Republican who concedes the truth of it. Major Ben Butterworth, who has been a great deal of late, talks with great freedom on this phase of it, but still swears Republicans consider him more than half a free trader anyhow. In the course of a rambling chat on politics and business he said: "When the McKinley bill was proposed, I told my Republican colleagues that we were virtually pledged to revise the tariff downward and that if we raised the rates we should be badly beaten, for the time for that sort of thing had passed. I now predict, as I have often predicted before, that there will never again be a high tariff man elected president of these United States. It is strange that our McKinley men in Ohio cannot see that so far the name of McKinley is associated in the minds of people outside of Ohio with nothing but the most disastrous defeat and failure. If our friends in the other end of this capitol were wise, they would have that bill voted on as soon as possible. They would urge the Democrats to go faster, for the country is bleeding at every pore, and every man who is engaged in settling the tariff question is the main cause of it, and a majority think the Republicans responsible for the delay."

"One thing, however, must be said—the Democrats throughout the country are a good deal more angry at their senators than any other party. They are angry at that election in Illinois shows that neither party went to the polls very much. By the way, you will notice that for three years or so the vote has been falling off. The reason, I think, is sheer disgust on the part of the people of both parties. In 1892 more Republicans stood at home than Democrats, and now more Democrats are staying at home than Republicans, but both sides are weary and disgusted by this nonsensical delay."

Beginning of the End.
Messrs. Jones, Vest and Harris still insist that the end is near, but with the shortest supposable time for it to remain in conference the tariff bill cannot become a law by the end of the session, and the time set for it to go into operation. It is also almost certain that most of the appropriation bills will be delayed till after the 30th, and so a joint resolution will have to be passed extending the terms of the current appropriations. The Indian bill dragged along much later than even the most pessimistic have expected, and the house worked up considerable ill humor over it. Meanwhile the advocates of free coinage of silver are mustering their forces, determined to have one more fight before the session ends.

Senator Squire's bill is favored, of course, but only as a beginning of a sort of unstable compromise until something better can be had. It provides that any owner of silver bullion may deposit it at the mint and receive payment therefor in standard silver dollars at the price of silver bullion on that day. Of the silver thus purchased the secretary is to have coined $4,000,000 per month until the aggregate of money of all kinds in the country reaches $40 per capita, and thereafter the coinage shall only be sufficient to maintain that ratio. Still another scheme in process of incubation is that the price of silver shall be fixed arbitrarily at $1 per ounce and that all silver, American or foreign, may be deposited, and the holder shall receive therefor silver certificates at that rate. The prophecy made a few years ago by Sherman and other "goldbugs" that any concession to the silver men would only make them demand more has been amply fulfilled. The half conversion of Senator Lodge and the alleged half conversion of Tom Reed and others to bimetallicism have removed the last lingering doubt the silver men had that their early triumph is certain if they persevere.

The various investigations have proceeded on the principle of the Irishman's pig in the old story, of which he said, "It didn't weigh half as much as I expected, and I always knew it wouldn't." As to sugar, it has been proved, of course, that Mr. Havemeyer and other agents of the trust came here and worked hard, talked with all the senators they could get to and pulled every string they could, which is no more than every body knew they would do.

BAD BLOW TO FIXERS.

Plan of the Populist Machine to Secure Fusion to Be Smashed.

The Populists in the Second District are about to have more trouble about their congressional nomination than the Republicans, who have adjourned their convention to July 10.

As announced a few days ago the Populist congressional committee postponed the date of its convention from June 22 to July 12 at Paola, two days after the first of holding the adjourned session or the Republican convention at Lawrence.

Today R. H. Semple, chairman of the congressional committee received a telegram from C. B. Hewlett, a delegate from Wyandotte county to the Paola convention, in which he said the committee had no right to postpone the date of holding the convention and as a majority of the delegates favored the original date they will meet at Paola June 22nd, and nominate a candidate for congress regardless of the action of the committee.

Chairman Semple wired back to Mr. Hewlett that the delegates have no authority to meet at any time or place without the consent of the committee. The convention was postponed in the interest of a fusion nominee in case Funston is nominated by the Republican convention. Six members out of the nine on the committee voted for the postponement of the convention.

It is understood that the scheme of Mr. Hewlett and his supporters is to meet at Paola Friday and with the assistance of the delegates from Bourbon, Miami and Anderson counties, the Wyandotte county Populists will nominate State Senator Edwin Taylor of Kansas City, Kansas, for congress.

Taylor is a bitter enemy of the state administration and for that reason an effort will be made to sidetrack the scheme to place him in nomination on Friday.

The administration charges Taylor with being a functionary of himself and say he was elected by fusion votes, but Taylor's friends say he was elected as an independent, defeating Billy Buchan. Whatever the true inwardness of the trouble may be, there will be an interesting meeting at Paola on Friday and there may be two Populist candidates for congress in the Second district this year.

DEBS' LATEST MOVE.

The A. R. U. to Form a Combine With the Farmers' Alliance.

CHICAGO, June 20.—President Debs of the A. R. U. said today that steps would soon be taken to form a triple alliance between the Knights of Labor, A. R. U. and the Farmers' Alliance. The triple alliance thus formed will control, he said, about 1,500,000 men.

At a convention under the auspices of the Illinois State Federation of Labor will be held at Springfield, Ill., July 2, 3 and 4, and then the proposed union will probably be effected.

President Debs stated that there is little doubt that the alliance will be effected without opposition.

The platform which will probably be adopted at the Springfield convention, will contain the following planks: Compulsory education; direct legislation for the laborer; a legal 8-hour work day; sanitary inspection of workshop, mine and home; liability of employers for injury to health, body and life; the abolition of the sweating system; the municipal ownership of street cars and gas and electric light plants for public distribution of heat, light and power; the national ownership of telegraph and telephone; railroads and the collective ownership by the people of all means of production and distribution; the principle of referendum of all legislation.

THE STORM MOVING NORTH.

Sioux City, Iowa, Struck By a Tornado—Gettysburg Cyclorama Wrecked.

SIoux CITY, Ia., June 20.—A terrible storm of wind, rain and hail struck this city at 6 o'clock this morning. The roof of the Illinois Central station was carried over the union depot and dropped into Third street. The Peavey and Stevens wholesale furniture house was unroofed and the Gettysburg cyclorama wrecked.

The air for forty-five minutes was so full of flying debris that it was not safe on the streets. It was a straight blow and was followed by ten minutes of hail and rain. The streets were badly washed out and the corn crop in this vicinity suffered. It is believed that immense damage was done in the surrounding country.

PRENDERGAST TRIAL.

It Begins Today Before Judge Payne—Tried for Insanity.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Assassin Prendergast was taken before the bar of the criminal court again today to be tried for insanity. Proceedings began before Judge Payne with arguments on the question of the venire. The state, represented by Attorney Morrison asked a special venire arguing that the trial was not strictly criminal. For the defense, the argument was made that the regular venire should be exhausted before a special one was summoned.

DOWN WITH THE LORDS.

The Movement Takes on Activity at a Big Public Meeting.

LEEDS, Eng., June 20.—Two thousand delegates were present today in Albert Hall, when Mr. Spence Watson called the anti-lords conference to order.

The conference was organized by the national Liberal federation and a committee of that body submitted the following resolutions:

First.—That the power now exercised by the lords to mutilate and reject measures passed by the representatives of the people in the house of commons has been systematically used to defeat reforms, is inconsistent with the right of free popular self government and should cease to exist.

Second.—That the meeting call upon the government to introduce a measure for the abolition of the lords' veto power by providing that whenever a bill passed by the commons shall be altered or rejected by the lords, the same bill may be reaffirmed by the commons, with or without such alteration, be subject to the royal assent, and thereupon become law.

Third.—That the meeting assures the government the resolute support of the party in any steps that may be deemed necessary to enforce the passage of this constitutional reform.

Contrary to expectations, few of the delegates present were men of note. The most prominent persons on the platform were Chairman Watson, James Henry Dalziel, member of parliament for the Kirkcaldy district of Scotland; Sir Wilfred Lawson, president of the United Kingdom Alliance for the suppression of the liquor traffic and member of parliament for the Cockermouth division of Cumberland; Michael Davitt and Henry Labouchere.

During the course of his address at the opening of the conference, Mr. Watson said that the present condition of affairs was unbearable. The time for action upon the part of the Liberal party had come. There must be a definite policy, because the government himself was in danger. When once the policy of the party towards the house of lords was formulated, there could be neither wavering nor compromise. The battle must be fought out to the end and the end must be very determined.

Mr. Watson then moved the first resolution, that the power now exercised by the house of lords to mutilate and reject measures passed by the representatives of the people in the house of commons has been systematically used to defeat reforms, is inconsistent with the rights of free popular self government and should cease to exist.

Secretary Harford of the Society of Railway Servants, in responding to the resolution condemned the house of lords for its attitude in regard to labor questions. After other speeches had been made on the same subject, delegate Barnard complained that the racing and gambling propensities of the lords had not been mentioned in the resolution. The resolution was then adopted as proposed.

For the second resolution Mr. Labouchere moved a substitute declaring that the lords being useless and dangerous, ought to be abolished, and calling upon the government to introduce a measure for the abolition of the house of lords.

Mr. Labouchere met with an enthusiastic reception and during the speech which he made upon his substitute, he declared that self-government was a farce so long as hereditary legislators existed.

EXCURSIONISTS HERE.

A Trainload of Visitors From the Northeast in the City.

An excursion of 460 people from the northeastern part of the state in charge of J. W. Howell of Hiawatha, arrived at noon today at the Rock Island.

They are from the towns of Morrill, Hamlin, Hiawatha, Robinson, Severance, Horton and Willis, and are members of the Modern Woodmen and their families. The excursionists were met at the depot by the members of Sunflower and North Topeka chapters of the Modern Woodmen, and taken to the hotel where they were to stay.

This afternoon at 4:30, the state officers held a reception at the state house for the visiting Woodmen when they were given the opportunity of shaking hands with Secretary of State Osborn, Attorney General Little and Auditor Prather who were on duty.

DISTRICT COURT NOTES.

The case in which Mrs. George Smith seeks divorce was the only one tried today. She claims her husband is guilty of cruelty and neglect. They are both colored. Judge Hazen has taken the case under advisement.

The court has announced that unless a receiver for the property of the Raper estate is agreed upon today by the lawyers, he will name a receiver tomorrow morning.

An effort is being made to get George Woods released from the county jail, where he is confined under the name of K. G. Blackie, charged with burglary. Woods was one of the men who, it is claimed, robbed a Rock Island freight car of several dozen pairs of overalls, and the stolen goods in J. C. Ury's back yard. He claims there is no evidence upon which to hold him and he has been in jail 35 days already, awaiting examination, and today his case was postponed for ten days more. A writ of habeas corpus may be asked for.

Melville Scantlin, a north side young man 25 years old, was today decided to be a fit subject for the insane asylum, in the probate court. His insanity is not violent, but it is more of the imbecile sort. He has been so for years.

FOR JERRY SIMPSON.

The delegates to the congressional convention were instructed to work for the nomination of Jerry Simpson, and the delegates to the state convention were instructed to work for a straight-out Democratic ticket.

NEWS OF KANSAS.

A Mother and Baby Narrowly Escape Drowning.

The Plumb-Hood Case Settled
Without Litigation.

OTHER STATE NEWS.

Gov. LeWelling Sued on Account of Atchison Joins.

WELLINGTON, June 20.—Mrs. E. W. House and 3-year-old babe, narrowly escaped drowning in Deer creek, while attempting to drive across the creek on their return to this city from a visit a few miles south. The horse was carried off its feet and buggy and occupants drifted over half a mile.

The horse and buggy finally became entangled in a treetop, and Mrs. House essayed to swim and wade to the bank with her child. Jessie Barnes heard her cries after she reached where she could wade, and found her up to her knees in water and mud, in a spot so dark she dare not move, but curl and taking good care of the baby. Neither Mrs. House nor the child has yet felt any evil effects from their adventure. The horse and buggy were rescued without receiving much injury.

HOOD-PLUMB SUIT SETTLED.

Mrs. Plumb Had Been Misinformed as to the Facts.

EMPORIA, June 20.—In the suit recently commenced in Lyon county, Kansas district court, by Mrs. Carrie S. Plumb, widow of the late Senator P. B. Plumb, against Major Calvin Hood of Emporia, Major Hood on Friday last filed his answer, setting out in detail the facts concerning the transaction upon which Mrs. Plumb based her suit, and these facts disclosed that there was absolutely no liability on the part of Major Hood.

A representative of Mrs. Plumb called upon Major Hood and stated that the facts contained in his answer threw a new light upon the subject and disclosed for the first time that Mrs. Plumb had been misinformed relative to the actual facts in the case. After a discussion of the matter between Major Hood and this representative it was agreed that Mrs. Plumb should dismiss her action and that to prevent any possible future friction all matters pertaining to the late partnership of Plumb and Hood should be at once settled.

This has accordingly been done and the whole matter thus settled satisfactorily.

GOV. LEWELLING SUED.

He and Others Sued For $5,000 For Allowing Atchison Joins to Run.

ATCHISON, June 20.—Ethel Phelps, the twelve-year-old daughter of J. B. Phelps, is the plaintiff in a $5,000 damage suit against Governor LeWelling, the Atchison police commissioners, Mayor Cloyes, and the city of Atchison, which was filed last night. The damage was claimed because it is alleged that the defendants allowed joints to run, where the father of the child bought drink, and therefore robbed the plaintiff of the support she might have otherwise received.

It will be remembered that the mother of the child brought a similar suit a week ago against the city and county of Atchison, but as the police power of cities of the first class in Kansas is under the supervision of the state instead of the city, it would appear that the new suit is an attempt to cover a mistake. The suit is regarded as an attempt on the part of the plaintiff's attorney to attract notoriety.

SUFFERING AND HARDSHIP.

Two Women and a Sick Baby Out in the Terrible Storm.

WICHITA, June 20.—During the worst of the storm which passed over this section and in the darkest part of the night two women with a sick baby drove up in front of the city building in an old, dilapidated farm wagon covered with a ruined canvas cover, and to which was attached two very skinned horses. "For the love of heaven give us shelter and a place to sleep," said the mother of the child. "We are homeless, helpless and ill; my child has the whooping cough."

Chief Cone at once ordered some of the men to find a place to put up the women and the women were taken to a room in the basement where sleeping accommodations were provided for them. Their story is a sad one.

The two women are sisters, and together with the husband of one of the women they made the race into the Cherokee strip last fall. A claim was secured and prospered seemed to be theirs. But last the husband sickened and died, leaving the women alone. Then they tried to farm this spring. A long dry spell ruined their crops and, being penniless, they concluded to travel back to Illinois by wagon as they had come. On the road the child was taken sick, and the heavy rain soaked the entire party. They have resumed their lonely and sad journey back toward their old home.

WRECK NEAR EMPORIA.

A Train on the Howard Branch Ditched But No One Hurt.

EMPORIA, June 20.—The accommodation freight train, No. 180, due here at 9 o'clock in the evening from Moline, jumped the track three miles south of the city. Four cars, one general merchandise, two of coal and a car of hay, were ditched, tearing up the track for several yards. A wrecking train was immediately dispatched from here and by working the force all night the track was made clear and open for travel.

A passenger coach was taken down the road last evening by the switch engine and the passengers brought in from the wrecked train. No one was injured in the mishap beyond a few bruises.

Wichita Valued at $4,000,000.
WICHITA, June 20.—The assessment rolls are now completed. The 30 per cent valuation of real estate for Wichita aggregates $4,148,229. This is a decrease of $1,600,000 on last year. The 30 per cent valuation of personal property is $994,025.

Lawrence Wants a Fair.

LAWRENCE, June 20.—Mr. A. E. Ashbrook has been here from Kansas City in the interest of the fair that it is proposed to have at Bismarck grove this fall. A meeting of citizens is called to take hold of this matter. Mr. Ashbrook wants no aid for the racing part of the programme, but wants all the assistance possible in getting out a big agricultural display. The date of the fair will probably be from September 24 to 29.

Death Was Accidental.

SALINA, June 20.—In the inquest over the remains of Tom Shanahan, who was found lying dead near Dry Creek beside the Union Pacific track Monday morning, the jury found that he came to his death by being struck by a Union Pacific train and there was no evidence that death was caused feloniously.

YOUNG MAN, GO SOUTH,

Is the Motto of an Immigration Convention of Southerners.

NEW YORK, June 20.—A convention intended to promote immigration to the south, and to establish closer commercial relations between New York and the southern states will be held at the Fifth Avenue hotel, beginning tomorrow.

The governors of several states are expected to attend, and the commercial bodies of most of the cities of the south will send delegates.

The proposed convention was first suggested by United States Senator Patrick Walsh of Georgia, and he has been working hard to have his state and section well represented.

OBSCENE MATTER.

From Foreign Countries Will Be Considered in Certain Cases.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—A large number of complaints of obscene matter from foreign countries in the United States mails have been received at the postoffice department. France, Hungary and Germany are thought to be the principal countries from which obscene articles originate, and the matter has been brought to the attention of Postmaster General Bissell. At his direction, Superintendent of Foreign Mails Brooks has issued the following order to all postmasters:

"With reference to sections 538 and 579, postal laws and regulations 1593, postmasters are informed that letters and packages mailed in a foreign country and received by them for delivery covers of which are marked 'supposed liable to customs duties,' and which are found when opened by the addressees in the presence of postmasters to contain obscene or lewd pictures, prints, not to be delivered, but must be forwarded to this department in a sealed cover, addressed 'The Superintendent of Foreign Mails,' in order that they may be returned to the country in which they were mailed, to be used as evidence in prosecution under the laws of that country of the senders of the articles in question."

KANSAS AGAINST A STRIKE.

Delegates to Interstate Miners' Convention Instructed Against Suspension of Work.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 20.—It appears from conversation with a number of delegates to the Miners' Interstate convention that the call was made without proper authority. There are about twelve or fifteen Kansas delegates present, and a majority of them say that they are instructed to refuse to strike and all the time against a strike or temporary suspension of work.

President McGregor, the delegates say, is not looked upon with favor by a majority of the miners in this district and if it had not been for the desire on their part to refute his statement that they had decided to strike they would have ignored the call for a convention today.

ARMS FOR ST. JOHNS.

The Episcopal School at Salina Wants Equipment From the State.

Adjutant General Davis has received an application for arms and equipment from the St. Johns military school at Salina.

There is a large amount of condemned property belonging to the Kansas National guard, including guns, swords and uniforms and these may be supplied to the school. Ottawa university has already secured such an equipment for its company.

The request will be laid before the military board which meets on the 25th.

The funeral of William Wilson was held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at 517 Western avenue. He was 25 years old and died of consumption.

A ten mile race between Misses Lizzie Williams of Topeka and Carrie Needham of Tonganoxie, will be one of the attractions at Leavenworth the Fourth of July.

A team belonging to a Mrs. Hatch ran away at the Santa Fe passenger depot on Fourth street this morning. Only Mrs. Hatch was in the wagon at the time and her hand and arm were bruised.

Two summer carloads of Liberty Mission Sunday school scholars picked up at Garfield park today. They went to the park about 10 o'clock carrying an American flag and two blue flags containing the word Liberty.

J. C. Dean, the Oklahoma lawyer who was admitted to practice in the supreme court of Kansas one day and disbarred the next because he had been disbarred in Oklahoma, was yesterday sentenced to six months in jail at Tecumseh, Ok., for attempting to bribe a United States grand juror. Dean seems to be making a bad record as fast as he can.

Elmer Gardner, an eighteen year old boy, who had had his hand badly cut in a fight at Lewisville, came to town yesterday, and as he plainly could not work and had no money, Poor Commissioner Hale took him to the poor house. He says his parents formerly lived here, have moved to Ohio, and as soon as his hand is well enough he will begin working his way to them.
